525 MILES
OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD
Running West from Omaha
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED.

THIS BRINGS THE LINE TO THE EASTERN BASE of the Rocky Mountains, and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further to Evans Pass the highest point on the road by January. The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the summit is but eighty feet to the mile while that of many eastern roads is over one hundred. Work in the rock-cuttings on the western slope will continue through the winter, and there is now no reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pacific will be open for business in 1870.

The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are ample. The United States grants its Six Per Cent Bonds at the rate of from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a second lien as security, and receives payment to a large if not to the full extent of its claim in services. These bonds are issued as each twenty mile section is finished, and after it has been examined by the United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class road, thoroughly supplied with depots, repair shops, stations and all the necessary rolling stock and other equipments.

The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large revenue to the Company. Much of this land in the Platte Valley is among the most fertile in the world, and other large portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in coal of the best quality.

The Company is also authorized to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of the Government and no more. Hon. E. D. Morgan and Hon. Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders and deliver the bonds to the Company only as the work progresses, so that they always represent an actual and productive value.

The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over five millions have been paid in upon the work already done.

EARNINGS OF THE COMPANY.

At present, the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent, and as there will be no competition it can always be done at profitable rates.

It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a Government Work, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded and certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's are offered for the present AT PAR IN U. S. CURRENCY, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent lower than U. S. Stocks. They pay

SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD,

or over NINE PER CENT. upon the investment. Subscriptions will be received in Portland by

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 30.

Congressional

WASHINGTON, March 30.—In the House Churchill introduced a bill to amend the act of March, 1792, relative to the election of President and Vice President requiring a new election in case there is an interval of eighteen months between the double vacancy and ordinary termination of the Presidential term. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

The Senate reassembled at 11 o'clock. Edmunds called up the bill to regulate appeals in the court of claims, which was amended and postponed till to-morrow.

Trumbull called up the bill pending adjournment, and a bill for relieving Butler of Tennessee from political disabilities. The question was on Buckalew's amendment to strike out the word Constitution in the clause providing for relieve from disabilities imposed by the Constitution and reconstruction laws, they not having application to Tennessee. Butler could not properly be relieved from the disabilities imposed by them.

It gave way at the suggestion of Sherman, who presented a report from the committee on Conference on the bill to relieve certain manufactures from internal taxation.

Hendricks moved the report lay on the table till tomorrow.

Sherman moved immediate action, saying everything objectionable to the Senate had been stricken out.

Several Senators opposed acting on the report immediately.

Sherman consented that it might go over, giving notice that he would press it as early as possible.

At 12:30 the President pro tem vacated the chair which was immediately taken by the Chief Justice. The Sergeant at Arms made proclamation commanding silence. The President's counsel took their seats and the House managers entered. Butler commenced his speech at a quarter before one.

In the House, this afternoon Haight presented the joint resolution of the New Jersey Legislature withdrawing the consent of that State to the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution.

Washburne of Illinois desired to return the withdrawal of consent of that State to the proposed amendment to the Constitution. He desired to return the document as a rebuke to the disloyal Legislature.

The Speaker said it was not in order, as all papers presented in the morning hour must be referred.

Washburne gave notice that he would move to suspend the rules in order that the document might be returned to the New Jersey Legislature.

The House then proceeded to the Senate Chamber to attend the impeachment trial.

The House reassembled at half past four and resumed business. Several suggestions were made as to the hour of meeting to-morrow.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution for returning the resolution to the Legislature of New Jersey for the reason that the same is disrespectful to the House, scandalous in character and ordering that the title only shall be referred to in the Globe. Ross demanded the reading of the resolution. The Speaker said the gentleman had no right to demand the reading.

Eldridge remarked "We are required to return the resolution as scandalous without knowing what it is."

The Speaker overruled the point of order and after considerable filibustering Washburne's motion was adopted and the rules were suspended.

On motion of Schenck a resolution was adopted to print 5,000 copies of Butler's speech with the accompanying brief and 40,000 without the brief. Adjourned.

In the Senate Butler spoke over three hours. He referred to the fact that the trial about to commence was the most important in the history of our country; one that perhaps has no parallel in the history of any other country. He then proceeded to state the case as it came before the Senate. The Senate he said, was different from other courts. It was a law unto itself not subject to ordinary rules of courts, being governed only by principles of justice and equity. Butler then proceeded to quote the history of other impeachment cases in this country and England, to show the power of the court in trying the case. He dwelt on this at great length. After having stated preliminary principles in the case, Butler proceeded then to review the articles of impeachment, and concluded by saying "The safeguards of the Constitution against usurpation are in your hands. The interests and hopes of free institutions wait upon your decision. The House of Representatives has done its duty. They have presented the facts in a constitutional manner. We have brought the criminal to your bar and demand judgment at your hands for his great crimes. Never again, if Andrew Johnson go quit and free this day, can the people of any other [illegible] National checks and guards to stay usurpation in the Executive power. I speak, therefore but in words of truth and soberness, in saying that the future political welfare and liberties of all men hang trembling on the decision of the Senate."

After the conclusion of Butler's speech, Wilson, on the part of Managers offered as evidence certified copies of the oath of office of President Johnson of the appointment of Secretary Stanton by President Lincoln and ratification of said nomination by the Senate, after which court adjourned till 12 o'clock to-morrow.

The President, Wade, then called the Senate to order, when the report of the Conference Committee on the bill to relieve certain manufactures from tax, was taken up and agreed to. Adjourned.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, March 30.—A Herald's Washington special thinks the Alabama bill will fail in the Senate when such radicals as Boutwell in the House, voted against it.

The State Department is corresponding with the British Government with the view of forming a treaty recognizing the rights of naturalized citizens. Apparently no doubts exist but that such a treaty will soon be satisfactorily concluded. It will partake of the character and features of the treaty just concluded with the North German Confederation.

A Tribune special says Grant has not yet issued any order assigning Hancock to the new command to which he has been called by the President. He has called the attention of the President to the section in the Reconstruction act, regulating District commanders to be officers of the Regular Army not below the rank of Brigadier and asks what officer of necessary rank is available to succeed Hancock in the command of the Fifth District.

Dispatches from Little Rock leave no doubt but that the Constitution of Arkansas is ratified by 3,000 majority.

The Times' special thinks Spalding's substitute for the Alabama bill will probably pass the Senate.

The Tribune contains a letter from Thad. Stevens, heartily endorsing Grant for President and Ben. Wade for Vice President.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Secretary Stanton has promulgated in four general orders the late act amending the rencounter law (?) which became a law without the signature of the President.

An official order was issued to-day relieving Hancock of command of the Fifth District and assigning him to the command of the Department of Atlanta.

The second conference committee on the bill exempting manufactures from taxation, has agreed upon a report which it is thought will be adopted by the two houses. Manufactured lumber and flour are exempted from tax on sales. Imprisonment and fine are inflicted on distillers and Government officers colluding in frauds, and the distillery is forfeited.

Fire at Chicago

CHICAGO, March 30.—Yesterday morning the large linseed oil factory of Gould Bros. was entirely consumed with all the machinery and stock on hand consisting of six hundred barrels of oil, eight thousand bushels of flax seed &c. The total loss was about $175,000, insured for $110,000. The fire was probably the work of an incendiary. It made an intense heat and seriously endangered the ships in the river, but all was saved.

New Steamship Arrangements

NEW YORK, March 30.—The Pacific Mail Company will hereafter run four steamships monthly on the 1st, 9th, 16th and 24th. The opposition are also expecting to increase the number of their line.

Heavy Defalcation

NEW YORK, March 30.—It is stated that Jay Gould, one of the principal directors of the Erie Railroad, has decamped for parts unknown, taking with him between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, being part of the funds over which Osgood was appointed receiver by Judge Barnard. It is surmised that Gould has gone to Toledo, Ohio, or Akron, Ohio, to let the remaining contract for building the broad gauge connection with the Michigan Southern Railroad, the money to be used to make advance payments on expired contracts.

Revenue Frauds in Texas

CHICAGO, March 30.—A dispatch from Galveston says heavy frauds on the revenue have been detected. They were perpetrated through the bonded warehouses by frauds chiefly in tobacco and whisky. The parties implicated have fled.

From Havana

HAVANA, March 23.—Citizens of Santiago are awaiting the arrival of the Captain General with a number of petitions for reduction of taxes.

The new English postal treaty is disregarded by the officials of Havana, although it had been officially promulgated.

Two [illegible] have been sentenced to death for highway robbery.

The gunboat De Soto has arrived at Kingston with American Consul Gregg.

The project for colonizing Americans and Europeans has been revived in Jamaica.

Further Haytien advices state that President Salnave is threatened with being both Jeffrard and Saloman of the [illegible]. Their adherents are threatened with the same fate.

HAVANA, March 30.—A Portuguese vessel has brought three hundred Coolies from Macoa. They were guarded by thirty foreign soldiers to prevent mutiny.

The Abyssinian War

NEW YORK, March 30.—Advices are from Abyssinia to the 21st. The British captives were safe and well on the 10th of February. King Theodore is strongly posted [illegible] mortars defending his position on the table land in the neighborhood of Magdala.

Adjournment of the California Legislature

SACRAMENTO, March 31.—The seventeenth session of the California Legislature adjourned last night at 12 o'clock, after sitting [illegible] days.

The Evening Star of Philadelphia publishes the following dispatch from Washington:

"It is well ascertained on the authority of the Hon. R. J. Walker that [illegible] men [illegible] is armed [illegible] in the Maryland militia are in readiness to march to the Capital if asked to do so by the President. These men are for the most part ex rebels, who served during the war in the Confederate army."

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.

You can see almost any day in the bright and storied Supreme Court room (the old Senate chamber) the President of this impeachment trial sit in his silken robe, Chief Justice Chase. It is winter and he has let his beard grow curling grey under his chin and behind the jaw, so that he has a more venerable guise than in general. There is breadth and length to his head grand to study. A full soul in all the discriminations, and large intelligences looks out of his round bright eyes, in which the dark shadows of thought roll forever. Youth seems to be perennial in that perfect physique, and law and government to be not only the tenants but the architects of that superb oval palace; the mouth is firm as justice, the nostrils are sensitive as mercy or indignation, the Commandments might be written on the stone tablet of the forehead. The most perfect of all statesmen and judges, supreme in society and life as in law, cast of superior clay to contain a nobler humanity, Judge Chase in this wrangle of politicians will preside like Jupiter come down at the prayer of Æsop's frogs. Victories he has none that lithographers can depict. His life has been of larger episodes, like the work days of creation. The great party that formed around him feared to set him up for the suffrage of men, because they knew what little traits pleased little men that make the mass and Chief Justice Chase had none of these. To see two contrasted humanities, look, when this trial comes, at Chase and then at Johnson. See the politician's half opened eyes, cramped under the accessions of little wrinkles, each wrinkle an indulged passion; the covert suspicion in the uplooking under the brows; the pinched lips expressing obstinacy but not will—that is the President. In judgment upon him see the placid countenance, broad, benignant, statuelike! Then say, "Heavens! Have we discarded this and accepted that?"

GENERAL GRANT.

Why Grant is steadfast to Congress lies in this—all the years and labors of his glory are involved in the honor of the war and its soldiers. With the South surrendered to its rebels, and an independent Democracy in power, the quasi heroes of the Senate chamber will be Robert E. Lee and Raphael Semmes. Therefore, at the head of the column again, standing hip shotten, with that weary, peering look, as if spoke-bound, Gen. Grant is ready for the martyrdom of scandal, as he was for that of the ballot. He takes personal ground for impeachment as a national necessity. The precedent it will establish, he says, is of less consequence than the precedent we set of resisting disunion by force. He believes Johnson to be ready to break the law, and more wily combating the Union front than Lee in the road to Richmond.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Whatever may be the result of this legal impeachment, Andrew Johnson was morally impeached by the people from the time he made a drunken inaugural speech, and from his door portal had the monstrous indecorum to name as public enemies certain Senators and Representatives of the people. Then the Democracy, gasping in the last despair of extinction, took a little hope. They fed the vain man's vanity. He it was who ought to restore the country in his own way—the lion of the tribe of David, with the initials of Andrew Jackson. In vain old soldiers and moderate men of character, strove to pacify the President. He listened to pettifoggers and Democratic ward delegates, having withal a natural love of low company, till he began to confess to him all that he had never been a Republican at all, and he resolved to create a personal party out of the wrecks of both radicalism and Democracy. The history of his deluding his Cabinet is well remembered, how he told them of his power with the people in personal contact, and started single-handed, upon that famous trip around the circle, which brought him back to the White House a stunned and humiliated being, and let loose upon him the sarcasm of all the presses in the country. His position now was a mortifying one; having failed to overawe Congress, or carry the people, he endeavored to seduce the nation through its heroes. The military men, one after another, turned their shoulders upon him. He could not expel his Cabinet on the one hand, who had sacrificed themselves for him, while on the other his refusal to clear out all the offices lost him the Democracy. Congress, meantime, working with splendid energy, organized the loyal [illegible] of the South, retained the army, and reduced the Executive to the most contracted harmlessness possible. The only use his Cabinet had been to him was keeping him within the law, and saving him from impeachment. By this time the Moses of the colored people had become the client of Jeremiah Black, who would legislate slavery into existence to-morrow if he could, and the loyal Governor who would hang traitors as high as Haman, was the favorite of Alexander Stephens for the next Presidency. To this deplorable backsliding had Mr Johnson's insulted vanity compelled him. At last, despair left him no alternative but to venture upon a removal. He directed it to Stanton, on whom the fury of the Democracy was concentrated. Had Stanton resigned, whatever politeness dictated, the work of Congress in the South would have been all undone. Mr. Johnson's lessons in "deportment" had not been such as to require reciprocation. Stanton refused. Here, then, was bafflement, defiance almost impotence. So far from creating a party, Mr Johnson had consolidated two, neither of which would accept him. He had lost Andrew Johnson's great claim on history—re-election. In this moment supreme vanity mutinied; he tampered with a weak, old soldier, and sent him to seize the War Department. He asked officers of the Army to sustain him. He tried to entrap Sherman, the ancient enemy of Stanton. The coup d'etat became the jeu d'esprit for a forenoon; in the forenoon the President of the United States was arraigned as a criminal.

THE UNIVERSALITY OF INSANITY.—Some one said that every man is insane on some point, and that the question as to what constitutes madness depends on the majority. However this may be, it is certain that many eminent men have been insane. Blaise Pascal the famous French astronomer and mathematician, was so melancholy that at one time he deemed it a sin to look upon a beautiful landscape. Burton was a victim of dejected spirits and disordered fancies for years, and wrote the Anatomy of Melancholy to relieve the tedium of life. Collins, the poet, was wretched, and in the decline of life used to frequent the Chichester Cathedral and accompany the organ with sobs and groans. The horrible state of Dr Johnson and Cowper are known to all. Smart was at one time confined in a mad house and died in prison. Cruden, the author of the Concordance, revised and completed it during insanity. The wife of Southey, herself an authoress, became insane and the old poet, overtaxed with study and weighed down with sorrow, then received a shock from which he never recovered.

The Cincinnati Commercial makes an attempt to classify the employments of the people with the following results

Agriculturists	3,219 496
Mechanics and Manufacturers	480 936
Day laborers	980 000
Servants	560 000
Merchants	123,000
Clerks	135 000
Physicians	64 000
Clergymen	35,001
Lawyers	33 193

Our entire population having been a little over thirty one millions the number of persons whose occupations are reported amounts to about one in every six, or very nearly the average of heads of families or legal voters to the whole population. The remaining five sixths may be reckoned as the "domestic class," or women and persons under age.

In the six New England States the taxable income in 1865-6 was $142,810,153. In 1866-7, $181,818,179, an increase of over $39,000,000. In the seventeen Western States and Territories, the taxable income was as follows: 1865-6, $158,484,961. In 1866-7, $133,667,551, a decrease of $24,821,410.

RATHER ROUGH ON DICKENS.—Mr. Murdoch has given a reading in [illegible] for the benefit of Mrs. Dickens, a poor widow in that city and sister in law of Charles Dickens, whose writings abound in benevolent characters and open handed charities. Where is Dickens with his readings?—New York Herald.

The State Fairly Stated

One of the clearest expositions we have ever seen of the condition in which the rebel States were left by the war, was given in a late speech in the Senate of the United State by Ferry of Connecticut. The idea upon which the Senator proceeds, and which is incontestably the correct one, has been touched upon at various times in articles which have appeared in these columns, but it is elaborated in the Connecticut Senator's speech in a clearer and more convincing manner than we have ever seen it treated elsewhere. This idea is that, before secession the people of the rebel States were co proprietors in the sovereignty of the Republic, but by that act they abdicated this sovereignty, voluntarily, openly in the face of the nation, not only abdicated their share in that sovereignty, but abdicated thereby every function which flows out of it. Abdicating sovereignty, they abdicated its exercise by the suffrage and representation. From that abdication they proceeded to open revolt against the sovereignty of the United States magnified that revolt to the dimensions of civil war, the result of which was a triumph for the national arms. At the close of the war the relative positions of the parties was that of victor and vanquished. The national sovereignty was in the hands of that portion of the people who had never abdicated its exercise or its principles. The vanquished were men who had abdicated or renounced that sovereignty and all its privileges and resulting functions. Of course the geographical areas of the States remained subject to the jurisdiction of the Union, as they had ever been.

This is a brief statement of the doctrine which the Union party have adopted, and the theory on which they have proceeded. It is logical and in conformity with fact, it is based on solid principles and cannot be overturned. It is simple and perfectly intelligible, and the course of Congress has has at all times been perfectly consistent with it. If the opposite doctrine is admitted, what are the consequences? If it is held that those who thus voluntarily abdicated their share in the sovereignty of the Republic, and assaulted the national life, immediately when their subjugation by that sovereignty was complete, had the right to resume the sovereignty they had abdicated and take up and exercise all its functions, we are without a Government which is worth the name. For it is a proclamation of anarchy to assert that any portion of the people who have, for purposes hostile to the national life, yielded up their share in the authority of the National Government, possess the right to resume at their own pleasure their abdicated functions. It would make the country a continual prey to the ambitious and turbulent, and destroy every hope of peace and security.

It therefore devolved on the victors to determine the conditions on which the rights abdicated by the rebels might be restored. Congress is doing this, and has acted in the premises with clemency and moderation. Where has this clemency had a parallel? What do the records of other rebellions show—not in the dark ages, but in recent times? Punishment by confiscation, by deportation and by death. But in America no man has been punished for treason, no man's property is taken away, no man's person is imprisoned, no one is exiled. And to every one except the leaders of the great rebellion, the Government has accorded all the rights of a citizen of the Republic. It has taken the vanquished rebel and made him a coequal sovereign with the defenders of the nation. The victorious sovereignty has discarded all thoughts of vindictiveness, all motives of vengeance, and has proceeded to secure peace, to establish justice, and to guarantee the national safety. This is what Congress has done, and to do this was both its unquestionable right and unavoidable duty.

Consistency

The Union party is continually charged by its opponents with being false to its pledges. Resolutions adopted by Congress in 1861, platforms laid down by party caucuses, and sayings of party leaders during the troubled and uncertain days of 1861 and 1862 are pointed at as containing declarations never to be denied or changed no matter what new light might have been received from subsequent events. Promises contingent upon the voluntary abandonment of the war by the South, and designed to effect such abandonment, we are asked to fulfill after having by sheer force compelled the South to lay down their arms. Now if the Union party is to be held to all its promises and pledges of this description we claim that the Democratic party shall stand on its old doctrines also. Let it come out as it did in 1860-61 and declare that there is no power to coerce a State in rebellion. Let it take up all the abandoned Democratic dogmas of that period and declare for them anew. It is a decidedly cool proceeding for a party which was for secession in 1860 and which now declares that secession is an impossible that a State government cannot be changed, forfeited, abandoned suffered to lapse or affected in any way by an act of secession, to accuse its opponents of any inconsistency whatever. Unless the Democratic party is ready to go back to where it stood seven or eight years ago it has no right to insist that the Union party shall stand in future precisely where it did then.

Though three years have elapsed since the close of the war the successes achieved by Grant are still rankling in the memories of Copperhead editors. A large number of Eastern Confederate journals are laboring to prove that he is no soldier, hoping by their impotent efforts to belittle him to get revenge for his chastisement of such able Democratic soldiers as Pemberton, Bragg and Lee.

When General Sherman lately passed through Cincinnati and [illegible] the [illegible] difference between Grant and Johnson, he said in an emphatic way: "General Grant is right, sir; General Grant is right in this matter."

"Chunks of Wisdom"

"Every President, from Washington to Lincoln, has removed men from office," say Johnson's apologists. And they say truly. But they forget to add that the law for which Johnson is impeached is only a year old. So has Washington and Lincoln did legally what Johnson has attempted against law.—Oregonian.

A Radical Congress then enacts that acts which were committed with impunity by Washington and Lincoln in the absence of any law on the subject, are "high crimes and misdemeanors in office." This shows what respect the Radicals have for Washington and Lincoln.—Herald.

This is a model of reasoning eminently worthy of the sapient Beriah. Suppose that from Washington to Lincoln, it had been the custom of the Presidents, "in the absence of any law on the subject" to take their own course in regard to the government of the military, the regulation of the departments, or any other matter whatever, but that a law had been enacted a year ago specifying how these things should thereafter be done and the President had refused to observe and enforce it. What then? In this way would not "acts which were committed with impunity by Washington and Lincoln, in the absence of any law on the subject," become high crimes and misdemeanors? For is it not the duty of the President to enforce the laws? And however he may act before the law is made is he not thereafter bound by that law? Beriah's observations on this subject are certainly (to adopt the phraseology of Ed and Cuttle,) "solid chunks of wisdom."

What Are They?

The "Democratic" platform pronounces for the "time honored principles," but does not declare them. It alludes to them in general terms, but does not specify. It refers to them loosely and vaguely, but does not come to particulars. The oracles of that party are all silent on this subject. Now we understand the matter to be one of some importance, at least we understand it to be so regarded by the party. There are many others who would take an interest in learning from a "Democratic" authority just what the "time honored principles" are. Are they the "Resolutions of '98?" Are they the doctrines of Buchanan's last annual message and the platforms adopted by the party during the rebellion? Will some of the mouth pieces of the party answer? We would put these questions directly to the Herald and demand a reply, were the editor of that paper authorized to speak for his party. But as the "Democratic" Convention snubbed and repudiated him, he, of course, is no authority. But the other journals, and the orators of the party have an opportunity to speak on this question. The people want to know what the "time-honored principles" are. Come, gentlemen, speak out.

BAITS FOR SHERMAN AND THOMAS.—The manner in which Johnson was lately snubbed by Generals Sherman and Thomas is very significant. Dissatisfied with Grant because he could not make him his tool, Johnson pressed Sherman to accept the Brevet rank of General so that he might put him in Grant's place. But old Tecumseh refused the brevet, and threatened to resign rather than have it thrust upon him. Johnson next tried to catch Thomas with the same bait and offered him two brevets that of Lieutenant General and of General. But "old Chickamauga" resented the offer as promptly as Sherman had done, and plumply refused to touch the dishonored brevets which Johnson, for his own base purposes, was endeavoring to force on him. And what was a matter of special significance, he sent his communication to Wade and not to the President. The manner in which Johnson's advances have been resented by every honorable man in the army is unparallelled in history. The following is Thomas' note of declination:

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 28.

Hon. B. F. Wade, President of the Senate: The morning papers of Louisville announce officially that my name was yesterday sent to the Senate for confirmation as Brevet Lieutenant General. For the battle of Nashville, I was appointed a Major General in the U. S. Army. My services since the war do not merit so high a compliment, and it is now too late to be regarded as a compliment, if conferred for services during the war. I therefore earnestly request that the Senate will not confirm the nomination.

GEO. H. THOMAS, Maj. Gen.

Arkansas Coming

It is definitely announced that the Constitution of Arkansas has been adopted by three thousand majority. This opens the way for the restoration of that State to its old place in the Union. There can be no doubt that within a very few weeks the State Government of Arkansas will be fully reorganized and her Senators and Representatives admitted to the national councils. The other disorganized States will speedily follow. If Johnson is removed, as he ought to be, there will be no obstacle in the way of complete restoration during the coming summer. The Southern States may all be prepared to participate in the Presidential election. For more than two years Johnson has been the only obstacle to the restoration of the Union. All Union men will be ready to welcome the return of Arkansas. The incoming State will be followed by all the rest in due time.

In view of the fact that the "Democratic" candidate for Congress is a prominent Methodist and an ex preacher, wouldn't some of the articles which Beriah used to write assailing and defaming that religious denomination, look particularly well in print at this time? Would it be asking too much to request him to reproduce some of them? Though the directory silenced him on a former occasion, he might get their permission to speak now on this topic, as the opportunity is so good a one.

What would be the consequences if a Republican President should assume the right to nullify a law passed by a Democratic Congress, should treat that Congress, having an overwhelming majority in both branches and backed by popular majorities in nearly all the States, with defiance and threaten to use the army to make his single will the only law? Just think of it! He would not be allowed to remain in office for a day or an hour.

Ex President Fillmore has been named as the possible Democratic candidate for President. From his antecedents, there seems to be considerable probability that he will be a favorite of that party. He started his political life as an Anti Mason, afterwards an Abolitionist, then an Abolition Whig, then a Know Nothing, and during the war a disloyal Copperhead. With this record Mr. Fillmore's chances for the Democratic nomination ought to be good.

UNITED STATES BONDS.—The Superintendent of Saving Banks in the State of New York reports that those institutions hold forty millions of United States bonds. If the Copperhead policy of repudiation should be adopted, somebody besides the rich and rapacious fellows of Wall street, would be the sufferers.

The Unionist truthfully says that from the time of the organization of the Democratic party until now, that party has never lost a national election without manifesting a disposition for insubordination, revolt and murder. The keen edge of this remark is its manifest undeniable truth.

The mother of Hon. David Logan died at an advanced age at Springfield, Ill., on the 24th of February. The sad event was not known by Mr. Logan until his return to this city on Monday.

The house of Mr. Nesbitt of Salem was robbed on Sunday, while the family were at church, of various articles, including money to the value of about fifty dollars.

A Union paper called the Blue Mountain Times will be issued immediately at La Grande, Union county. The publishers are Baker, Coggan & Co.

He concluded by moving his resolution of which he gave notice on last Friday, that the subject be left over for the consideration of the next Parliament.

Mr. E. G. Squier, the traveler in Central and South America, in a lecture upon Peru last week in New York, stated it to be his opinion that the day is not far distant when the Indians of Peru will assert and maintain their independence, and in some form restore, as they several times have very nearly succeeded in doing, the Empire of the Incas under one of the descendants of those once powerful sovereigns. Mr. Squier expressed the belief that this result would not be a misfortune either to Peru or the world. With an Indian already in supreme power in Mexico, the prospects of Mr. Lo and his kindred are certainly brightening.

OREGON PRODUCTS—STATEMENT FOR MARCH.—The following are the receipts at this city, of Oregon produce and products so far as the same could be ascertained by manifests of steamers, and careful inquiry, during the month of March.

EXPORTS FOR MARCH

The following are the exports by sea-going vessels, during the month of March, as ascertained from the manifests of vessels.

Flour, qr sks	53,661	Middlings, sks	680
Wheat, bags	7,376	Salmon bbls	604
Dried apples, hf bbls	763	Apples, boxes	11,7[illegible]
Beef, bbls	180	Lard cases	196

Hams, cases	43	Sheeps Pelts, bales	9
Leather, rolls	4	Deer skins, bales	2
Hides, bales, dry	27	Furs, bales	2

The excess of receipts of flour over the exports, during the month, is 26,2[illegible]9 qr sks excess of wheat receipts over exports, 11,186 bags, averaging say 150 lbs per bag. The probable stock on hand awaiting shipment, cannot be less than 75,000 qr sks flour, and of wheat not less than 20,000 sacks of 150 lbs, or 30,000 lbs. The excess of other leading articles of export, with the exception of green apples, must be quite as large proportionately. The accumulation results from the lack of tonnage and the detention of the products is felt, not only in this city, but all over the country as a serious detriment to one chief and vital interest. We learn from all sources that large amounts of produce are kept back, in the country, [illegible] of the impossibility of shipping from here. The [illegible] of the coming month will probably show a falling off in most leading articles. The stock of apples is very nearly exhausted.

A NEW SCHEME.—The San Francisco Bulletin takes off the rage for joint stock incorporations in all sorts of Quixotic schemes, very handsomely, as follows.

"Prospectus of the Grand Spread Eagle Joint Stock Company—Capital $500,000,000,000—Number of Shares, 100,000,000,000—

The object of the above named Company is to enable every inhabitant, man, woman or child, without any distinction of race or color, to procure a handsome certificate of stock in a grand company, sure to prove a permanent investment for coming generations.

The Grand Spread Eagle Joint Stock Company propose, among other things too numerous to mention

1st. To acquire by hocus pocus, or otherwise, the exclusive right to all the beasts of the field, the birds of the air and the fish in the waters, and, incidentally, the right to the rays of the sun and the showers from heaven.

2d. As a matter of local—but patriotic—importance, to log-roll through the American Congress a grant of all the lands, mines, minerals, forests and inland routes in the States and Territories belonging to or to be acquired by the Government of the United States.

When these exclusive rights are all secured and the stock of the Company all subscribed for, the Company [illegible] to give each stockholder a permit to "live, breathe and have his being," gratis; to build each of them a [illegible], to be completely furnished with all the luxuries of life; to pay off the National and all other debts, to prevent all taxation in future; in short, to do everything that those not stockholders have to do for them [illegible], leaving every one free to "go it while they are young," and do as they please.

As San Francisco is universally acknowledged to be the grand magnetic centre of this globe, the Company will [illegible] a daily line of Avitors from this point to the moon, giving to all stockholders free tickets, and the right to pre-empt there 1,000 acres, each as suburban or [illegible] fancy or game preserves.

It is estimated by sagacious judges that there is room [illegible] the bays of San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun, for a population of fully 40,000,000, or about the present [illegible] of the United States; and as this is really the only place fit to live in, it is safe to say that the day, and the night too, is not far distant when we shall be able to count that number on or under the ground.

To accommodate this population in style, the Company [illegible] to build a grand Boulevard 50,000 feet wide, entirely around the three bays—daming the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers, and crossing the Heads on a grand [illegible] arch, on the summit of which the Avitor depot will be erected, and above which will be an observatory [illegible] out for new planets to pre-empt on. The Grand [illegible] is to be laid out with 1,000 railroad tracks in the centre, 100 carriage ways, and 50 horseback drives, and one foot-path on each side, and is to be lined with shady fruit trees that bear the year round; the foot paths to be festooned with sour grapes.

No stockholder will be allowed to do anything but [illegible], prospect for new planets and pre-empt. Everything else to be done in this world will be done by the Company. All outsiders who may wish to breathe or do anything else will be required to procure and pay for a [illegible] from this Company.

Any one with half an eye can see what a magnificent paying concern this must be, and as only forty million [illegible] are to be disposed of now, will perceive the great importance of not being backward in coming forward.

The grave doubts expressed by croakers who say they "can't see it" except "in a horn," and that with such a vast population and imperfect drainage our delightful [illegible] might not prove eminently healthy, have been [illegible] by the established fact that even animals, such as roosters, live here and enjoy good health without heads. Subscription books are now open at the front office of the [illegible].

QUIZ & CO.,
No. 1, Humbug Place.

NOTES FROM OREGON CITY.—An acquaintance just visiting Oregon City, gives his impressions in the following note: "I find the resources of this little city, in the course of active development, and everything has a lively [illegible]. The woolen factory is a great credit to the place as well as to the State. It is a magnificent institution and is now turning out Oregon goods in great quantities and of superior quality. I did not learn the number of employes, but there must be nearly seventy five or [illegible]. The flouring mill is busy and doing good work. The political parties are each active and each feels [illegible]; but the important result, so far as I can judge, will be as heretofore. ...Ned Kelly has just opened the [illegible] House an important addition to the accommodations of the city, for travelers. Ned is a good fellow, and deserves success."

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT AND DEATH.—On last Saturday [illegible] Mr. Stephen Street, who resides on Columbia Slough, about seven Miles from Portland, visited Fountain Lodge, I. O. G. T., situated in Powell's Valley, and while returning home in company with Mr. W. G. Wickes and Mr. Jos. Fisher, and when near Mr. Wickes' house, fell [illegible] upon a stump, receiving a severe injury. The physician thought a rupture of the bowels by concussion. He was taken into Mr. Wickes' house where he received every possible attention, till Monday when he died. His remains were interred yesterday at 3 o'clock P. M., by the Good Templars of Columbia Fountain Lodge. Mr. Street was about thirty years old, single, and resided with his brother, the only relative he had in this [illegible], as our informant thinks. He was much esteemed.

CHARLEY STARR ARRESTED.—At the time we went to press Monday night, Starr, the man who shot Celia Levy, had not been arrested, though the officers were in [illegible]. The search for him was at once instituted with all the available force of the city, and in every direction. About half past one o'clock, officers Saunders and Ward, who were on watch near his house, heard a noise in the back yard, and shortly after, coming into Main street, came upon Starr in company with another man, and [illegible] him. He said it was all right, he was just starting down to surrender himself. Yesterday he had a preliminary examination before Recorder Hoffman, and was committed to await the action of the grand jury. No bonds were fixed.

FROM ASTORIA.—Mr. Hinman, who arrived last evening by the Coach, from Astoria, informs us that the Continental was met just below St. Helens about 2 P. M. yesterday. ...The Almota was at Baker's Bay on Monday unable to get to sea on account of a dense fog on the bar. ...The Crosby had not yet arrived in the Columbia. Mr. Hinman learned through the officer who came ashore from the Ajax that the disability of the ship consisted in the breaking of a part of her engine called the "cross heads." Otherwise the ship was all right. She was seen on Sunday from Cape Disappointment, about fifteen miles off the bar, heading off shore, with sails set. It would seem from this that there need be no apprehensions of her safety.

THE CONDITION OF THE WOUNDED WOMAN.—Celia Levy, the woman shot by Charley Starr, Monday night, is lying in a critical condition. The ball was not extracted till yesterday forenoon, the physicians being of the opinion that the operation was not necessary, as the mere presence of the lead in the muscular tissues could not be dangerous. Yesterday morning it was found to be lodged near the spinal column and just above the hip bone and was easily removed. The physicians inform us that the woman will probably not live more than a short time. It is thought she received internal injury of a fatal nature.

STEAMER AGROUND.—The steamship Continental left here about 10 o'clock, Monday night, but got aground at the lower end of the Swan Island bar where she remained till about 11 A. M. yesterday. The Fannie Troup came along at her usual hour and taking a line tugged her into deep water. The getting aground was not owing to a lack of water in the channel, nor to the fault of the pilot. The ship steered badly, and in spite of her helm, veered out of the channel, into shallow water.

POSTPONED.—The Calico Kraenzchen arranged by the Turn Verein for last evening was postponed to some future time not yet appointed, but which will be duly announced. This was in consequence of the uncertainty concerning the fate of the Ajax, on board of which were many relatives and friends of the Turners. They felt that they could not enjoy a party while there was any uncertainty as to the safety of their friends.

GRAND REPRESENTATIVE.—Mr. C. Beal, the Grand Chief Templar of Oregon, [illegible], representative to the Grand Lodge of North America, [illegible], as we learn, to leave for the East with the next steamer to attend the next annual session.

SOCIABLE.—The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a sociable this (Wednesday) evening in the basement of the Church. The public is invited to attend.

PRODUCE.—The following were the receipts of produce yesterday. Per Senator, 67 boxes apples, 2,121 qr sks flour, 31 [illegible] bbls dried apples, 15 gunnies bacon, 4 hf bbls lard, 4 [illegible] kegs. Per Heft, 2,429 qr sks flour, 614 bags wheat, 12 sks oats, [illegible] sks apples, 7 pkgs furniture. Per Kanger, 11,000 feet lumber, 9 gunnies oats, 10 sks peas, [illegible] boxes eggs.

RAILROAD SUBSCRIPTIONS.—We are informed that in response to the call of the Oregon Central Railroad Co. (west side) [illegible] [illegible] thirty two subscriptions of $[illegible] each have been [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that amount in small sums.

CLUB MEETING.—A meeting of the Union Club will be held this evening, which will be addressed by Messrs. Caples and Fitzgerald [illegible].

TAILORS WANTED.—Six [illegible] Coat, Pants and Vest Makers can find employment at [illegible] King, Superintendent of the tailoring department at Barnum Bros, corner Front and Morrison streets. [illegible] the very best of workmen need apply, as the highest prices will be paid.

LADIES [illegible] call and examine the new stock of goods just received at Mrs. Levy's, consisting of the fine [illegible] styles of [illegible] all the latest and most fashionable styles of trimmings.

THE PORTLAND UNION CLUB will hold a meeting at the Club Hall this Wednesday evening at 7½ o'clock. The meeting will be addressed by Messrs. Caples, Fitzgerald and others. T. J. DRYER, C. W. PARRISH Secretary. Chairman.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.
PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water, invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels, Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Spiritualistic Marvels.

HOW THE DAVENPORTS WERE MATCHED AND EXPOSED IN GERMANY.

[Nashville (Ill.) Correspondence of the Missouri Democrat.]

In your yesterday's issue I find a long article on Spiritualism, and notice of startling manifestations by a female medium, Miss Jennie Parrick. She is said to have a light and dark circle, &c., similar to the manifestations of the Davenport brothers performed in this and other countries. When those gentlemen were traveling through Germany they very soon came to the conclusion that their spiritual humbug would not pay, and therefore, when they first appeared at Dresden they admitted that their manifestations were purely natural and had nothing to do with spirits.

Among the audience of these performances was a young jeweller by the name of Hartmann, who watched every movement of the Davenports, and noticed closely the number of hands that showed themselves at the opening of the cabinet, but particularly the mode of tying, which was superintended by the Davenports and Mr Fay. At the second performance, he proposed to the Davenports to let him enter the cabinet, and pledged himself to perform the same manifestations as they did, but of course they did not consent to this, and advised him to build a cabinet for himself and show his skill. This he did, and a few days afterward this young mechanic performed the same feats in every respect as the Davenports did, namely: He was tied by a gentleman with a rope, bought at the same establishment where the Davenports bought theirs—of the same length, thickness and strength.

A guitar, bell, trumpet, and tambourine were along with him inside of the cabinet, he was firmly tied, and the cabinet closed. Scarcely had this been done when the trumpet flew through the hole of the cabinet into the crowd. Immediately the cabinet was opened. Hartmann, in the same position, sat quietly as though nothing had happened. It was closed again, and directly after, Hartmann opens the door himself, and appears outside, the rope in his hand. Everybody noticed by his swollen hands to what an extent the ropes had been tied.

Hartmann is tied again, and the apartment closed; directly hands and arms appear at the opening, sounds of the guitar are heard, the bell is thrown backward and forward, the tambourine is struck, the trumpet and the bell are vehemently expelled from within, &c.

The doors are opened and here is Hartmann again, firmly tied again as before. A gentleman among the audience proposes to be tied along with Hartmann. This is done, he is almost tied fast to Hartmann, and the cabinet closed. The sounds of all the instruments are heard again, and when the doors were opened both sat as before; the gentleman, however had the trumpet on his head, at the same time declaring that Hartmann had not moved. At last the hands of the tied Hartmann were filled full of flour and the cabinet closed again. The same occurrence as before; hands at the opening, trumpet and bell thrown out; and on opening, Hartmann again sat quietly, tied as before. He is untied now, and appears before the audience, his hands filled full of flour seemingly, as he had received it. Now began the performance in the dark.

Everybody closes up around the platform. The gaslight is extinguished, only four candles lit in the hall. These also are put out. At the call for light, the four candles are lit, and we find Hartmann tied to a chair. Darkness again prevails, and when the candles are lit the second time Hartmann is without a coat on; this garment occupying a place on the table. A gentleman offers him his, and after a few minutes' darkness he has the stranger's coat on. After a little while in the dark, however, he has his own coat on again, and the second one is thrown by him among the [illegible].

A friend of Hartmann is now tied between two gentlemen; these hold his arms and hands. Hartmann is also tied, and has, as a precaution, a silver piece (thaler) laid on each foot. As a second precaution, the chair upon which he sits is placed upon a sheet of white paper, and with a pencil an outline is drawn of the feet of the chair. After the light is extinguished, notwithstanding all these precautions, the sounds of the guitar are heard. Light is made again thereon, but both [illegible] as before, and the gentlemen from the audience declare that the gentleman placed between them had not moved, and the circle around the feet of the chair on which Hartmann sat had not been changed. The thalers also lay on Hartmann's feet.

Lastly, a glittering guitar is observed moving, as it were, far over the hands of those present.

All these experiments were skilfully executed, and the enlightened public expressed their opinion to the effect that they were equal to the Davenports' performances, although Hartmann had been practising but one week, and the Davenports fifteen years.

Now comes Hartmann's explanation: No one in Dresden, [illegible] perhaps a few sickly ladies, had [illegible] spiritual [illegible] in the perform[illegible]. Several reporters having [illegible] and [illegible] his assistants, Hartmann showed that everything was based on [illegible] tying. The mode of tying [illegible].

It [illegible] way that it is easy to strip the rope off one hand and use it, expelling the [illegible] bell, or showing it at the opening or playing [illegible] tambourine or guitar, and is also easy [illegible] the other hand and legs. It is also [illegible], so that the status quo ante [illegible] of the cabinet is resumed.

It is somewhat necessary, however, to use (the new, as the Davenport's) a new rope, as an old one is not so easily managed. He then explained how he could show his hands at the opening while they were filled with flour. I deposited, he said, the flour in my white vest, and again filled them before the cabinet was opened. The experiments in the dark he explained similarly.

The friend of Hartmann, who is tied between two gentlemen on the platform, of course does not [illegible] at all, but Hartmann, having his hands free, strikes the guitar, etc., lays the instrument too far off, he puts the silver pieces in his pocket, turns the paper upon which the chair stands over, and after placing himself against the chair, with a pencil he draws an outline of the feet on the white side of the paper, and places lastly the silver pieces again on his feet.

The moving of the glittering guitar over the heads of those present was then explained. The guitar was rubbed over with phosphorus, Hartmann swinging it over his head only. This was not believed by many, as they thought they had seen it move as high as the ceiling. He repeated it again before they were satisfied. It was a mere optical illusion which the darkened room and glittering phosphorus produced.

So much for this sort of spiritualism. I have no doubt but what all spiritualistic manifestations no matter who performs them, or what they are, can be traced to their natural origin.

A Physical Prodigy.

In Cincinnati lives a German family, consisting of parents and six children, the eldest of the latter being 16 and the youngest two years and eight months of age. Until past two years old the latter was in all respects like other children. At that time she was taken sick. The family physician being called he found the case an entirely different one, being without precedent. An event then occurred in her experience which could not have been looked for under several years, and has since recurred with normal regularity. The body has grown more rapidly than is usual for children of that age, and the mind has developed not quite proportionately, but much beyond her age. Really, the child's age is less than three years, physically, it is that of an adult.

Her appearance is not that of a dwarf. She has a luxuriant growth of beautiful dark hair, which falls in ringlets on her shoulders. Her eyes are dark, sparkling, and have the expression of youth rather than that of infancy. Her features are regular and finely moulded. Her complexion inclines to the dark, but the skin is extremely clear and transparent. The great weight of her body has been too much for her tender limbs that have the task of supporting it and have curved them. Any one seeing her on the street, would not observe at first, besides the last peculiarity, anything very different from the appearance of other children, unless it should be in the expression of countenance. If told her age, she would scarcely be regarded as a prodigy in size.

This child is remarkably intelligent. Her health is perfect. She is fond of music, talks German far better than children four or five years older usually do.

The case has attracted attention among some of the leading physicians of this city, one of the most eminent of whom is preparing a report on the case. Dr Stark has written to Baron von Langenbeck, Professor of Medicine and Surgery in the University at Berlin, and has received an answer from him, stating that no similar case is on record. He also proposes that she shall be taken to Europe for a study of the case by the most eminent faculties in the great capitals.

One circumstance which should have been mentioned before is that at the age of two years she had a full set of teeth, perfect and sound in all respects, the same as an adult.

George Alfred Townsend on Vanderbilt.

[Correspondence Cleveland Leader.]

The great railway of New York State is the Central, and Buffalo has had for a long time the honorary control of it. In Dean Richmond's hands it was a political power, but he managed it liberally so that the stockholders got a fair division, the line maintained its popularity, and all the towns upon it grew with amazing rapidity. During the administration of Mr Fargo, also of Buffalo, the Central road had quarrels with Vanderbilt, and the express feud affected it, still it gave everybody satisfaction.

A short time ago Vanderbilt made one of his coups d'etat and mastered the corporation. The uneasy consciousness of his presence and control here has made a flutter from New York to Chicago. He is probably the most powerful personage in America. He has a proportionate disregard of public sentiment. After an extraordinary active life, he lives at seventy odd, with almost the magnificent constitution of youth, and with a programme before him in which there is no such station as Death. Upon no other ground than that of his record as a capitalist, I believe that the public are justified in their fears of him. He has turned his enterprise thus late in life, from the ocean to the land, and upon the ocean his triumphs have not been those of American commerce. He has always been an antagonist, and never a projector, of steamship route. Where after much loss and labor, we have developed some new field of commerce, Vanderbilt, at the first token of success, has organized an opposition, and broken up the trade altogether.

In this way we lost our hold upon Havre, and many of our Central American and Pacific interests have in like manner been rendered desultory and shortlived. The fast steamship Vanderbilt, which he gave to the government, was a swift dog-in-the-manger, and she was onerous as an individual property, when he made her an expensive possession of Uncle Sam. His vast railway interest in the Harlem and the Hudson River Railways handled chiefly for stock speculations, and for a long time the Hudson River Road, with five-sixths of the trade, rated at less than par while the almost idle Harlem stood twenty, thirty, even fifty per cent above it. No man ever played with his pocket-book between these two highways but they shut upon it like a pair of shears and lopped his fingers off. He owns a small railway on Staten Island, that for its length, is the most profitable in the United States.

His policy of action is Louis Napoleonic, a silence and a surprise. Adventurers temporarily in his favor, have grown rich, and he now lies in wait for the personal control of such highways between the Mississippi and the sea as shall cripple competition. The Commodore can comprehend no victory without the overthrow of some collateral interest, it may be the Pennsylvania Central Road that he is to stagger this time; but in his victories commonwealths seldom share; they make his own history, nothing more. It is nothing for any part of the country to smile over at the whisper that unless Rochester is tractable he will build round her or run through her, and unless Albany be docile he will make her a way station. Stockholders may rejoice at the promise of a ten per cent. dividend, but a highway like the Central road is not valued by its dividends so much as by its usefulness. When the engines are stripped of their ornaments and the cars are reduced to Quaker meeting-houses, the finest highway in America will be only a rude monument of its President. It will go into the market, like any other prostituted stock, and the bulls and bears will graze upon it from the Mississippi to the metropolis.

MARRIED WOMEN AND MAIDS.—The Imperial Review is troubled with the question whether married women should dance, and it expresses its opinions in a long article, from which we make an extract. It says:

"There is something almost unseemly in the spectacle of a half dozen young married women walking off with some of the best partners in the room, while a row of girls are sitting neglected against the wall. Neither ignorance nor thoughtlessness can be pleaded in excuse. Women thoroughly know women, whatever else they may know; and there is not one of them that is not vividly conscious of what heart-burning it causes to a poor girl to hear the music and watch the many twinkling feet of a ball-room, and play the almost ignominious part of a passive spectator. Grown-up women clutching at all the toys or sweetmeats off a Christmas tree at a juvenile party, would not be a more unnatural spectacle. Grown-up men eager to win the stakes at a round game got up for lads home for the holidays, would not be more cruel or inhuman. We are constrained to plead for tenderness and consideration on the part of young women who are married towards young women who are not. Might not Sidney's words, as he handed the draught of water to the dying soldier at Lutzen, be profitably remembered? 'Thy need is greater than mine.'"

Semmes, the rantankerous captain of the Alabama, is indignant because somebody has again applied to his acts, while roaming the high seas, the epithet of "piracies." "It is time," he shouts, "that all this senseless clamor about the piracies of the Alabama has ceased. Her commission was as legitimate as that of Gen. Lee, and no one but an ass, will seek to draw any distinction." That hits the nail on the head squarely. The commission of the Alabama was given its own legitimacy by a Government which had none of its own; so was General Lee. The purpose of both commissions constituted crimes which involved for their possessors the forfeiture of their lives, "and no one but an ass will seek to draw any distinction."

SOOTHING AND BRACING.—There is no preparation in existence which has such a soothing effect in cases of nervous excitement as

DR HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

Although the fame of this renowned invigorant rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Intestinal disorders, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any unpleasant reaction. Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

SHIPLEY'S PATENT PACIFIC

TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

OF WHICH THE ABOVE IS AN ILLUSTRATION has FOUR SETS OF BUCKETS AND USES THREE FOURTHS OF THE WATER TWICE.

The old high priced, one pulled and uncontrolled wheel has been displaced by a far working trial made by Mr H Kelly at his saw mill, and the public can see what he says as to the capacity of the two wheels in the following testimonial over his own signature.

MR H W SHIPLEY Sir. In reply to your inquiry as to how I like your Pacific Turbine Wheel I have to say that I have used one over [illegible] and three Leffel wheels 10 [illegible] in [illegible]. When I substituted your 15 inch wheel for the 13 inch Leffel wheel, though unfinished it worked the machinery like a [illegible] using 52 ft of water per minute more than the Leffel. At your request I subsequently took your wheel out that it might be finished and then I put in a 13 inch Leffel. But it gave no better power than yours while it used 52 cubic feet more water per minute. After some months, I replaced your wheel and am still using it with the most satisfactory results. I have subjected it to some severe tests. For instance, while running the circular saw in a log which squared 12 inches, I added the planer with a 2 inch knife cutting from one eighth to one-fourth of an inch depth without in the least slacking the speed. After thorough tests of both wheels I am satisfied that your wheel with gate one-eighth of an inch open gives as much power as the Leffel with gates one third open. At half gate your wheel gives double the power of the Leffel at half gate. At full gate the power of yours exceeds that of the Leffel, by from ten to twelve per cent. At quarter gate the Leffel holds no comparison with yours at quarter gate.

N. B. Mr. Shipley was not present at either of the trials of his wheel, he being sick at the first and absent from the State, at the second trial.

Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, so that they are saved from and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz. Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintance, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor [illegible] obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from [illegible] curiosity, to any part of the country, with full directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in a [illegible] letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid them is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive the public by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, puffed letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney st., near Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 1957.
